ELL Lab Description

WHO? The ELL Lab is designed to help all Stark State College students who are English Language Learners with speaking, reading, and writing in English. While the ELL Lab is not an open lab, Native Speakers of English can use the lab along with their ELL peers.

WHAT? The ELL Lab is a computer lab with 24 computers. There is also a semi-private space for studying or for practicing speaking in English. ELL Specialists will be available to assist students with speaking, writing, and reading in English.

WHERE? The ELL lab is located adjacent to the Writing Center in room G200b.

WHY? Stark State College is committed to student success. The ELL Lab is a resource for students seeking to improve their effectiveness at communicating and understanding English.

WHEN? The ELL Lab is scheduled to open during the Fall 2015 semester. The ELL Lab will be open Monday-Thursday 9am-8pm. ELL Specialists will be available in the ELL Lab Monday-Thursday 10am-1pm and 5:30pm-7pm. Students are encouraged to visit the Writing Center for one-on-one tutoring for writing assignments.

HOW? The ELL Lab is funded by the Perkins Grant and supported by the Stark State College Writing Center.
